

I had applied for a visitor visa for Canada on 30th June, 2005 on my own and to my utter shock it was rejected. I received a letter of rejection that stated that the Canadian High Commission was not satisfied regarding my incentives to return to India after visiting Canada. I am a reputed business person, and have my real brother living in Canada, and in spite of having provided all the documents from my side the visa authorities were not satisfied.

A client of mine recommended Diva Immigration Services to me to reapply for my visa, and I spoke with the lawyer, Mrs. Divya Bakshi Arya first over the phone and then fixed an appointment to meet her in her office. She explained the whole process of visa application to me in clear and simple words and I was so impressed with the way she analysed my rejection letter that I signed on with her right away. She and her staff gave me a checklist of documents and I started work on assembling the file. I contacted her several times during that time to make sure my documentation was on the right track. There was detailed file preparation from their side and each and every document of mine was put in place with perfection. Mrs. Divya Arya then prepared me for the interview at VFS office and gave me tips on how to go about my file submission and sure enough, when I submitted my file for the visa, the person who collected my file looked very impressed with the documents assembling. I got my visitor visa to Canada the very next day, and thanks to Diva Immigration Services and Mrs. Divya Arya, I am back from a lovely trip to Toronto, having met my brother and his family after a long time. I can't believe the efficiency and effectiveness in the way Diva Immigration Services handled my file and my case and I had my visa in my hand within a week of signing up with them.

I have to thank Mrs. Divya Arya, and her staff at Diva Immigration Services who gave me the chance to visit Canada when I had given up hope of going to Canada. I highly recommend Diva Immigration Services to anyone who is in dilemma of visa application.
